

BSA Troop 16 History – June 18 – 24

Camp Raven Knob

Over the summer some of our scouts went to Camp Raven Knob and one of the main takeaways was that it rained a lot. The Scouts did a lot of merit badges, and one scout even did a high adventure activity for a little bit until it got rained out. The lake actually started to freeze from all the rain and it was so bad that some other troops got mild hypothermia. Even though it rained most days, everyone had a great time and learned new skills in their merit badges. One night the adults made different cobblers and cakes in Dutch ovens and supposedly the M&M one was the best. One of the boys in our troop slept walked down the hill behind the tents but thank goodness he woke up before anything bad happened. Other than 4 days of straight rain and leaky tents, it was a good camp. – Written with help from Bradley Ebey.
